Annrose Wanjugu Gathara

Founder, Organic Agriculture

Kenya

Annrose Wanjugu Gathara is a dedicated entrepreneur with a deep passion for empowering farmers and building resilience against climate change. She advocates for and installs modern farming solutions, such as greenhouses, dam liners, shade nets, and drip irrigation systems, helping farmers continue production despite unpredictable rainfall patterns. With a strong background in Food Security and a master's degree in Food Security and Sustainable Agriculture underway, Annrose is committed to enhancing agricultural sustainability.

Organic Agriculture Solutions Ltd

Organic Agriculture Solutions Ltd. supplies and installs modern farming products and trains poultry and fish farmers on black soldier fly larvae rearing. Her latest initiative focuses on supporting women who, due to limited land ownership rights, rely on mini-livestock like poultry and fish. She provides training on integrating black soldier fly larvae into their production systems, using the larvae as a protein source in affordable feed formulation. By utilizing organic waste as a substrate for rearing larvae, her approach reduces waste while producing high-value feeds and increasing the productivity of poultry and fish. Annrose aims to leave a legacy of food security for all, empowering farmers with tools and knowledge to sustain agricultural production, adapt to climate challenges, and enhance livelihoods.
