Jeanne Bernick
Executive Director, Pinion Global Network

As Growth Leader, Jeanne Bernick leads the firm's overall market and growth strategies across the food and agriculture industry and community businesses. Jeanne matches the needs of clients with Pinion's talent and tools, facilitating healthy, growing businesses that are sustainable for generations to come. She manages the firm's growth activities, including business development and market-related approaches, to best serve client needs for business advisory and accounting solutions. Jeanne also provides client-facing service in succession planning, utilizing her first-hand perspective and professional knowledge in working with family business owners, Jeanne understands the needs and roles that both family and non-family stakeholders play in profitable business. She has been recognized for her achievement in family enterprise advising, and holds a Certificate in Family Business Advising (CFBA). Over her distinguished career, Jeanne became one of the top editors in agriculture media at Top Producer magazine. She covered industry topics in rural America and places as far flung as Africa, where ag potential is enormous yet hunger and basic needs are overwhelming. From this experience, Jeanne gained a passion for supporting and empowering women in agriculture, and co-authored a book on women leadership in agriculture called "Ceres Rising". She is a featured speaker at women leadership events. From childhood, Jeanne Bernick has walked in the shoes of ag producers, growing up on a cattle ranch in Southern Missouri. During her career as both a journalist and consultant, she has visited operations across America and the world, spending many hours driving dirt roads, listening, and learning from business owners and operators about their wants and needs for business profitability. Their stories have shaped her and fuel her passion for connecting clients with the right business resources to sustain their long-term livelihood.

Yolande Nankeng
Founder, Extrait Végétal Sarl

Yolande Nankeng is a person with great values and a passion for natural well-being. Born on 16 January 1979 in Bafoussam in the high hills of West Cameroon, Yolande Nounque Nankeng did all her primary and secondary education there, as well as some university studies, until she obtained her Brevet de Technicien Supérieur (Higher Technician's Certificate) in Secretarial Management. She went on to study at ESSEC business school in 2009, where she obtained a Master's degree in Organisation and Management. Raised in a single-parent Catholic family of 06 children following the death of her father when she was just 4 years old, she had to learn to work very quickly to support her mother, who was unemployed at the time. Honesty, integrity, simplicity and love of others are values that her mother instilled in her to help her cope with life's difficulties. Fascinated by vital health, she fulfilled her life's mission by organising seminars, workshops and nutritional support to help people rediscover wellbeing through food. Yolande has 18 years' experience in a multi-national company specialising in solutions integration, where she held the position of Business Unit Manager Recurring Services before leaving in July 2020. Today, aged 42, married with 05 children, she is living out her passion for entrepreneurship through her company Extrait Végétal Sarl, which specialises in processing fruit and vegetables into high nutritional value products (juices, smoothies, cut-ups) for people who want to look after their health. Her ambition is to be the first natural juice production industry in Cameroon. She is the promoter of the APON natural fruit juice brand. Yolande lives in Douala in Cameroon with her husband (Patrice) and their 5 children (Aaron, Maeva, Ulrich, Arthur and Patrice Allan).
